

New Student Organization

It is our pleasure to invite you to join Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA)! FBLA is a national association of nearly a quarter of a million students interested in becoming more successful in the business world.

What is FBLA?

Future Business Leaders of America is an organization for students to gain a competitive edge for college and future career success. By participating in the FBLA, students will inherit the knowledge and skills they need to set them apart, while contributing to the improvements of our community and school.

Why join the FBLA?

Membership in the FBLA will help you learn about business and will give you the opportunity to see the “real world” through the interaction with business leaders in our community and from across the country. FBLA will enable you to discover the secret of being able to talk confidently with prospective employers, and a opportunity to experience the chance to test your business skills by competing on the local, state and national levels.

FBLA will sharpen your:

- Leadership skills
- Public Speaking Skills
- Time management skills
- Goal setting skills
- Decision making skills

Thank you for taking the time to consider the Future Business Leaders of America. We hope that you see the many benefits of this new organization, and join us to build new friendships and network with business professionals.
